SWISS BRASS

The world rejoicing - ordering

All performing material for this work is only available online at Morthanveld's website and all orders must be placed online via this link: <https://www.morthanveld.com/product/edward-gregson-the-world-rejoicing/>. Bands should note the following:

- Orders may be placed in advance (from today, if they wish) but scores will only be sent out after the publication date of 25 April and band parts will only be sent out after the publication date of 1 June (15 June in Norway).
- Bands have the option to order a full set (1 x score and a set of parts), conductor's score (for those who require additional scores or wish to receive the score earlier than June) and/or parts only for those bands who wish to order a score early but will then not require a second one.
- Payment will need to be made by credit/debit card or via Paypal at the time of order. If you have any bands who absolutely CANNOT do this (for example due to band bank account restrictions) they should contact me directly by emailing andrew.baker@morthanveld.com to make alternative arrangements, but in any event payments will need to be made in GBP and wherever possible bands are encouraged to pay using cards or Paypal to ensure speedy delivery.
- Bands who wish a score sent to their MD before the parts are released should order these separately.
- Bands ordering a full set or a set of parts will need to indicate which band it is for in the order notes (on the payment screen in the online checkout). Orders for performing material which do not specify a band name on the list of bands supplied by the contest management in each country may be delayed while I check that the order is from an invited band.
- The composer and Morthanveld Publishing would like to remind bands that the rights to the official premieres in each commissioning country rest with the respective National Championships. Whilst we accept and understand that many bands now like to have an "open rehearsal" in advance of major contests, bands are respectfully reminded that formal concert performances of this work are embargoed in their country until after the date of their National Championships. The work will not be offered on general sale until after the 2021 Norwegian Championship.
